HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, AND Hoofland's German Tonic.

THE GREAT REMEDIES

FOR ALL DISEASES OF THE LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

Are composed of the purest and most efficacious medicinal vegetables that are known to the medical profession, and are recommended by them in the treatment of all diseases for which they are intended to cure.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters with the addition of a fine old Madeira wine, and is a most agreeable and efficacious preparation for the use of those who do not require a stimulating medicine.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

Do not fail to make your purchase, and make yourselves well and happy.

Hoofland's German Tonic

Has been proved by many of our most eminent citizens to be the most invigorating and pleasant tonic in use, and is recommended by all who have used it as the most agreeable and efficacious tonic.

DYSPEPTICS, YOU WILL FIND

A CERTAIN CURE IN THESE MEDICINES.

DELICATE FEMALES

Will find these Medicines just what their delicate systems require.

AGED PERSONS

Will find in them a gentle stimulant, adapted to their peculiar condition, and not injurious in any way.

MEN OF SEDENTARY HABITS,

Such as Merchants, Editors, Clergymen, Lawyers, Students, and those whose occupations confine them within doors, will find these Medicines just what they need when their system requires a tonic or stimulant.

MEN OF LEISURE AND FORTUNE

Who from the effects of their luxurious mode of living, are suffering from the effects of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Loss of Appetite, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Headache, Giddiness, Nervous Irritability, Low Spirits, Blotches on the Skin, Eruptions, Dropsical Swellings, Jaundice, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver or Stomach, will find that these Medicines will prove a most valuable remedy.

MANY OF OUR CITIZENS

Can testify to the wonderful effect these Medicines have upon the system when prostrated by the enervating influence of the Summer heat, and we do not hesitate to recommend them to those who are suffering from the effects of that season, as a safe and invigorating tonic.

PRICE OF THE BITTERS, $1 PER BOTTLE, OR SIX BOTTLES FOR $5.

PRICE OF THE TONIC, $1.50 PER BOTTLE, OR SIX BOTTLES FOR $7.50.

Recollect that it is Hoofland's German Bitters and Hoofland's German Tonic that are so highly recommended by our citizens and the press, and not any of the numerous worthless articles which are offered as their substitutes.

The genuine can be had of the proprietor, in Philadelphia, at the German Medicine Store, No. 631 Arch Street, and of the agents in the towns and cities throughout the United States.

CHARLES M. FLINN, Proprietor, Late C. M. JACKSON & Co.

CONTINENTAL CURRENCY is occasionally sent to the United States Treasury with requests to redeem it in lawful money. The treasurer recently returned a $50 note to the sender, with the statement that, by the act of Congress, passed August 4, 1790, the Continental currency was receivable at the treasury until September 1, 1791, at the rate of $200 in said currency for $1 in specie. This privilege, by the act of May 8, 1792, was extended to March 7, 1796, since which date there has been no law permitting its redemption.

Farming and Housekeeping.

THE DAPPLE MARE.

An Ancient Legend Verified and Thoroughly.

BY JOHN G. SAXE.

"Once on a time," as short it takes declaire,
There lived a farmer in a quiet dell
In Massachusetts; but exactly when
Or where it really mears than I can tell,
Except that, quite above the public bounty,
He lived within his means and lickled county.

By patient labor and unceasing care
He earned, and enjoyed, his daily bread;
Contented with his wife, fondest fare,
At odd times, unknown to envy, what or wealth,
He found—as I hope everybody prays and health.

The wife, a fine specimen of his humble lot,
The joy of his heart—the light of his hearth—
In fact—the delight of his homelier cot
Like a true woman and a faithful wife;
He found—improved—thought and cared for
Her and her.

Content in cottage and blue-chilled is showed her location.

Brown old at last, the farmer called his son,
"The comes of land the favorite, I suppose;"
And said: "I long have thought, my darling John,
'Tis time to bring my labors to a close;
So now to tell I mean to bid adieu,
And to—if, my son, the home shall turn to you."

The boy embraced the boon with vast delight,
And promised while their pecunious lives were united,
He'd tell and tend the farm from morn till night,
And see his parents comfortably in dotained;
Good Dolly John, he would never call to leave, nor Thought of to give cause to regret old age—"mu I

The farmer said: "Well, let us now proceed,
A contract—there's nothing change—in delay;"
And got Squire Robinson to write the deed;
Comes who—to say stuff? we'll soon be on the way.
But John replied, with tender, filial tear,
"You're old and weak—I'll take the Dapple Mare"

The mare was saddled, and the man got on;
The boy on foot trudged cheerfully along;
The while, inch or ids site, the dust—on sun
Pounded the weary way with sighs and song.
Arrived at length they found the squire at home;
Call goods told how and for what they had come

The deed was will in proper form of law,
With many a "forsaid," "therefore," and "the same;"
And made throughout without mistake or flaw
To show that John had now a legal claim
To all his father's land—conveyed, given, sold,
Quit-claimed, et cetera—to have and hold.

Then business done, they left the lawyer's door,
Happy, perhaps, than when they entered there;
And started off as they had done before—
The son on foot, the father on the mare.
But ere the Dunbar single mile had gone
A brilliant thought occurred to Master John.

Also to Faith! also for filial duty!
Also that Spirit, in the shape of Pride,
(His most healthing form—save that of Beauty,)
Whispered the lad: "My boy, you ought to ride!"
"Of course!" exclaimed the son; "I don't fall
The father should always ride the Dapple Mare"

The son was lusty, and the sire was old,
And so, with many an oath and many a frown,
The hapless farmer did as he was told;
Jump on top of the steed, and the boy got on,
And rode away as fast as he could run,
And left his sire to trudge it home on foot.

That night, while seated round the kitchen fire
The two had said—safe, cheerful as if no word
Or deed preceded the injured father's sire,
Or ought to make him sad—he ventured
He spoke to his son: "Whoever fagged,
I think, I'm in to that little mouth foot!
"I'm very sure, my son, it wouldn't hurt it,"
Dolly cries ever the mischievous sire,
"To take the deed, my lad, and just insert it"—
Here the old chap frowned—"in the first
The merriment, with most triumphant air,
"Who must, my son, shall ride the Dapple Mare!"

THE BEST BREEDS OF CATTLE FOR A FARM.

The question which breed of cattle is the most profitable for a farm, will depend on where the farm is located, and the purpose of the farmer to supply a particular market, whether a milk, butter or cheese dairy; whether for raising stock for working oxen, or for feeding for the butcher. These different purposes require different breeds of stock.

Within a convenient distance of a town or city, the milk business will yield the most money, clear profit. The butter business (fresh, in pound or half pound lumps,) next. Cheese and firkin butter can be made at a greater distance from the market and brought in at any time.

For these purposes we recommend the Alderneys and Ayrshires as real milk-producing machines, converting all the milk-producing food they are able to digest into the lacteal element. It is impossible to fatten them without first drying them up, and this is no easy matter. Their milk, too, is of the richest quality for either cream, butter or cheese.

In some sections of the country, where the farms are large, and stock raising and feeding is made a business, the short-horn Durham and the Devonshire will be the most profitable; for taking on fat and weight of carcass, no other breed can compare with the short-horn, either for pure blood or grades.

For working oxen the Devons are superior on account of activity—they are good feeders.

We would by no means underrate the Devons and short-horns as milkers. Many of both breeds, as well as their crosses, prove to be excellent milkers; but we still adhere to the foregoing opinion, that the Alderneys and Ayrshires are their superiors in manufacturing milk out of a given amount of food. Some of our most discriminating dairymen differ in opinion as to which of these two breeds are the best milkers; on this account we have classed them together; but our preference, based upon our own judgment, is in favor of the Alderneys.—Exchange.

GRAIN FOR MILCH COWS.—Corn meal alone; shorts alone are less useful than a mixture. Why? Because in corn meal the element of butter abounds; in shorts the element of curd or cheese. As a rule, the heavier milk is, the more cheese it will make; while light milk makes the more butter. If feeding for cheese or milk only, shorts are best; if for butter, corn meal.

A MAINE man gives his method of treating bashfy horses, as follows: "Let me inform humane men and hostlers, and all who hold the rein, that the way to cure bashfy horses is to take them from the carriage and whirl them rapidly round till they are giddy. It requires two men to accomplish this—one at the horse's tail. Don't let him step out. Hold him to the smallest possible circle. One dose will often cure him; two doses generally will; three doses are final with the worst horse that ever refused to stir."

ANOTHER EPIDEMIC.—The "chee cholera" is an epidemic in Clinton county, Ohio. One bee-raiser has lost thirty out of eighty hives. He has discovered that the bees are attacked with a violent purging, the matter evacuated being of a giant moss quality, and clinging to the bees in such a manner as to retard their motion. Their wings become glued up, and in attempting to fly they drop down a short distance from their hives and perish.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For the Renovation of the Hair.

THE GREAT DESIDERATUM OF THE AGE.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from a trace of deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable, containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

McGUIRE'S SPANISH HAIR DRESSER,

FOR Promoting the Growth, Beautifying the Hair, and rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the exciting properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dressing has been universally in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries, as the production of art could give that origin of luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in those climes
